YOUR JOURNEY

The overview

Every year from about January to March the migration herds gather on the short-grass plains of Ndutu to give birth, with the peak around February. Thousands of calves arrive each day, and the predators are never far away. This safari starts with Tarangire's elephants, spends three nights at Ndutu, then finishes with the Ngorongoro Crater and Lake Manyara.

Highlights

- Wildebeest calving on the Ndutu plains
- Lions, cheetahs and hyenas following the herds
- Maasai village with singing and dancing
- Big Five game drive in the Ngorongoro Crater
- Tree-climbing lions at Lake Manyara
